Mason & Hamlin Co.,
146—Boylston St., Boston
Gentlemen:—The piano has had as eventful a career in some ways as any in Japan, I suppose. The steamer it came on was captured and held some weeks by the Chinese. On arriving late in Japan it had to be transported over sundry railroads, and at last carted on a hand-cart 70 miles over two high mountain ranges by terribly bad roads. Since then it has passed a cold winter and hot summer, both terribly damp. In spite of that, and the fact that it has not been tuned since leaving your warerooms, it retains its pitch and tone delightfully.
Yours very truly,

Ensenada, 12th, 10.50 p.m.

A destructive fire broke out this evenning at 6.40 in the station-buildings at the Rio Santiago. At 10 p.m. the entire edifice was a smouldering ruin, the losses being estimated at $150,000.

The building belonged to the Compañia de Muelles y Depositos. In it were the offices of Messrs. Kingsland and Brougham and those of the live-stock inspection, the centre constructed of wood being occupied by the refreshment-room kept by Mr. Brochi.

In the upper storey were the offices of the coast-guard and the department occupied by the employee and his family; also another set of rooms tenanted by naval-lieutenant Garcia Ballina and his family. It was in one of the latter that the fire first broke out, whence the flames quickly spread to the rest of the building.

Lieutenant Lan of the Chacabuco, with all the crew, hurried to the scene of the disaster as soon as the flames were visible, and also Mr. Chaneton, the subprefect. All concerned did their utmost to save furniture and stay the flames, but their efforts were unavailing.

The Chief of Police and a number of constables arrived at 7 o'clock in a special train from La Plata. In fact all that was possible was done to mitigate the consequences of the catastrophe.

It was due to the exertions of the Chacabuco's tars that the fire did not extend to the custom-warehouses which are barely 50 feet from the buildings burnt. In La Plata a rumour was current that these sheds were actually on fire.

THE CUBAN REBELLION.

The Voting put off indefinitely.

Another defeat of the Patriots.

Release of the Bermuda Adventurers.

Washington, 12th—In to-day's debate in the Senate on the Cuban Belligerency, Senator Horn opposed the appointment of any commission to investigate and report upon the Cuban insurrection. The majority, however, it is thought, are in favor of the formation of a commission.

Senator Allen made a motion that the President of the Republic be authorized to make inquiries into the conditions in which the warfare in Cuba is carried on.

The finale is that the Senate has indefinitely postponed the voting of the resolution on Cuban belligerency.

To-day's telegrams from Habana announce another crushing defeat sustained by the patriots, who lost eighty men in the encounter.

New York, 12th—General Calisto Garcia and his associates in the filibustering expedition of the steamer Bermuda were let out on bail to-day: their case, for violation of neutrality, will not come off till April.

Leading members of the Cuban Revolutionary Committee have informed reporters of the press that General Garcia will not be intrusted with any more expeditions to Cuba, not that they distrust his loyalty to the Cuban cause, but he lacks common sense, prudence and tact.

AFFAIRS IN SPAIN.

Discovery of a Dynamite Plot.

Infernal Machines in Barcelona.

Patriotic Loan for Cuban Expenses.

Six Millions Duros per Month.

Thirty thousand more Mausers.

Barcelona, 12th—The discovery of a dynamite plot hatched in this city has caused much excitement in the Peninsula. For some time past the police had been receiving anonymous notes of dynamite outrages threatened by the friends of the anarchist Salvador Franch who was garrotted last year. Precautionary measures were immediately taken and it was ascertained that there was some foundation for the report. There could be no doubt that there was a dynamite plot to blow up the principal public and even some private bnildings in this city.

All suspicious quarters were rigorously searched, but only a few documents of the anarchists, and of little value, were found. No clue to the plot could be found, and the police had given up all hopes of discovery when the proofs fell into their hands yesterday and enabled them to proceed swiftly and energetically. Last night several detectives were sent to the station to await the train expected from Aragon. On its arrival two workmen were arrested and thirty dynamite cartridges and two infernal machines were seized. Further arrests have been made.

Madrid, 12th—The Government has resolved to raise a loan at the rate of six million dollars per month, with 6% interest per annum, to defray the expenses of carrying on the war in Cuba.

Several large banking firms have come forward most patriotically with offers to subscribe any amount required for the suppression of the rebellion, and to save the Government from appealing to foreign money markets.

In view of eventualities that might arise out of the present strain in relations with the United States, the Minister of War has issued orders to several German firms to deliver at shortest possible notice another batch of 30,000 Mauser rifles.

The Cuban question preoccupies the attention of the papers in all parts of Spain. The Epoca says it is absolutely necessary to stamp out the revolution at any and all cost, before Home Rule for the island is even mentioned.

The news received to-day from Washington stating that the Senate had postponed indefinitely the debate respecting the belligerency of the Cuban rebels, has caused an excellent impression. The Press expresses the confident hope that the former cordial relations between the two countries will promptly be restored.

Fresh manifestations hostile to the United States were held to-day in Coruña and Alicante.

ITALY AND ABYSSINIA.

Half-hearted Support of Triple Alliance.

Renewed popularity of African Campaign.

Amnesty to Sicilian prisoners.

Osman Digma marching on Kassala.

Egypt threatened by the Mahdists.

Menelik between Adua and Adigrat.

Recriminations over Adua Defeat.

Rome, 12th—Prime-Minister Rudini has confided to a journalist that his Government will adhere to the Triple Alliance, but only on the Defensive.

Popular enthusiasm in favor of the Abyssinian campaign is fast reviving, and the contingents sent forward to Eritrea are madly cheered by the crowds wherever they pass.

One of the first measures of the Government, it is expected, will be a decree of amnesty in favor of all the political prisoners connected with the late disturbances in Sicily.

There is again much apprehension as to the fate of Major Hidalgo's garrison at Kassala. Latest advices state that Osman Digma is marching at the head of two heavy columns on the fortress. Should the Dervishes carry Kassala, there is a well-founded dread of a general rising of Mahdists in the Soudan.

A cablegram received this evening confirms these fears, and states that the Mahdists are making great preparations for an active campaign against Egypt. In the vicinity of Dongola, bands of stragglers have already been noticed.

Latest telegrams from Massouah announce that the army of the Negus is advancing slowly and with great precautions. The main body of the Abyssinian army is at present encamped between Adua and Adigrat.

The Opinione flatly contradicts to-day the statement of the African correspondent of the Gazeta de Venecia, Deputy Macola. This correspondent asserted that General Baratieri undertook the unfortunate attack on Adua under direct orders from Signor Crispi. The Opinione maintains that the Crispi Cabinet gave no orders or advice of any kind to General Baratieri, who had full liberty to act on his own responsibility.

One paper has caused a sensation by stating that on the 25th February then Prime-Minister Crispi telegraphed to General Baratieri—"Yours is not warfare, it is military decline." Up to that date Baratieri had prudently kept strengthening his positions and guarding the road to Asmara, hoping to force the Abyssinians to a pitched battle on more favorable ground. Crispi's telegram induced Baratieri to attack.

Disclosures are coming to light as to the lack of provisions and accoutrements in Baratieri's forces. All this has caused a painful impression and so much indignation that the Left in the Chambers think of impeaching the ex-Premier.

General Baratieri left Massauah to-day and is due in Naples on the 20th instant.

Monsignor Mauri Cardinal Arch-bishop of Ferrara died to-day in that city. He received the red hat on the 2nd May 1894.

Latest.—A despatch from Massauah states that large bodies of mounted Dervishes appeared to-day in the neighbourhood of Kassala; but that so far no attack had been made on the Italian positions.

It is said that the Negus Menelik has resolved to send an embassy to the different European Powers which shall justify to them the war declared against Italy.

United Kingdom

London, 12th—The Government has instructed the British resident in Zeilah to sound the Negus respecting the terms that would be acceptable to him for the signature of a treaty of peace.

Germany

Berlin, 12th—Count Goluchowsky held this afternoon a very long interview with Prince Hohenlohe the German Chancellor and Marshall Baron von Bieberstein the Foreign Secretary of State. In Government circles it is asserted that during the recent conferences the existing agreement respecting the general policy of the Triple Alliance has been peaced on a still sounder footing.

France

Paris, 12th—The Minister of Marine has supplied all the important ports on the Atlantic, in the Channel and on the Mediterranean with flotillas of small craft to better enforce the Fishery laws.

A telegram from Lyons reports that the river Rodano, swollen by the melting snow, has overflowed its banks and inundated large tracts of land. At Lyons itself fears are also entertained that the river may flood the city..

A telegram from Macon announces that the river Saone has overflowed its banks in several parts, causing great damage to property.

The success of the Mid-Lent fetes have been sadly marred by the deluge of rain.

Austria

Prague, 12th—A monument to the poet Kolar will shortly be erected here, as the public subscription for it has already reached the sum required for the work.

Turkey

Constantinople, 12th—The Turkish Government has given a French Company a concession for a railway from Bagdad to Bassorah in Asia Minor. French influence is daily increasing in Turkey.

United States

New York, 12th.—Several political committees have been formed here and in other States of the Union to support Mr. Morton as candidate for the Presidency. It is generally thought that the struggle between the Republicans and the Democrats this time will be fiercer than ever.

Russia

St. Petersburg, 12th—General Dragomiroff, chief of the headquarters-staff, who was present last year as representative of Russia at the French manœuvres, has published a pamphlet in which he highly extols the general behaviour and discipline of the French troops.

ECHOES FROM CHILE.

Peace with Honor.

Barros Arana in the Negotiations.

The Cable to Punta Arenas.

Great scarcity of Money.

Valparaiso, 12th—All the papers still dwell on international politics but their tone to-day is not so excited as yesterday. They ask for an honorable settlement of disputes that will not wound the feelings of either country.

There was a lengthy conference between Minister Quirno Costa, Minister Guerrero and commissioner Barros Arana who was requested to attend. The bases of the new agreement were discussed.

The Cable to Punta Arenas cannot be completed before eight months.

Owing to the great scarcity of money and curtailed credits in the banks large numbers of cattle brought from the Artine side have had to be sent back for want of market.

There is a rumor here that British men-of-war will be stationed at Talcahuano.

CLUB PROGRESO.

This celebrated Club, which 40 years ago was the most aristocratic in Buenos Aires, and ranked pretty much the same as the Carlton in London, still holds its old quarters at the corner of Victoria and Perú, and we note that of late there is a very praiseworthy push to lift the Club up to its former rank: but times and customs have so much changed that the new Board, although composed of active, representative men, will find it no easy job, as the manner of living in this city has so much changed, and all the rich native families who formerly lived in the centre of the city and within a few squares of the Plaza Victoria, have now grand mansions of their own and are scattered through the far off new streets in town.

That Argentine society in this city requires such a Club as a fashionable centre admits no manner of doubt, and in by gone years most of the leading foreign merchants were amongst its members. The old Progreso Club always kept the families together and brought the principal foreign merchants in touch with the natives, which is always most desirable in a city such as Buenos Aires. Forty years ago, the saloons of the Progreso Club were filled every evening with all the principal men of Buenos Aires. The Alvears, Llavallols, Huergos, Casareses, and hundreds of others sat chatting and talking and discussing the topics of the day with the Gilmours, Gowlands, Armstrongs, Lumbs, Gettings, Thompsons, Giffords, Moores, Forresters, O'Sheas, Lynchs, etc.

These friendly after dinner reunions, as a natural consequence, had a most beneficial influence, not only in the administration of public affairs, but also on society in general in this city, and we feel very much indebted to our little weekly illustrated colleague The Buenos Aires for its most interesting chapter in a recent number on this once famous Club, and from which we take the few following mems which doubtless will interest most of our readers.

"The Club was started a month after the fall of Rosas, in March 1852, and the smoke on the battle field of Caseros had hardly cleared off, and certainly Juan Manuel Rosas, the overthrown tyrant of Buenos Aires, had not reached Southampton, when the following gentlemen met in a small back parlour and founded the Club:

Diego de Alvear—President.
Felipe Llavallol—Vice-President.
Delfin B. Huergo—Secretary.

DIRECTORS:

FOUNDER MEMBERS:

Diego de Alvear, Delfin B. Huergo, Felipe Llavallol, Francisco Chas, Mariano Casares, Santiago Calzadilla, Rufino de Elizalde, Juan M. Estrada, Felix Sanches de Zelis, Justo J. de Urquiza, Ambrosio del Molino, José J. Martinez de Hoz, Francisco Moreno, Gervasio A. de Posadas, José Marmol, Ramon Llavallol, Bonifacio Huergo, José M. Gazon, Luis Costa, Miguel Cané, Antonio Romaguera, Vicente Casares, Luis Caseres, Bernabé Ocampo, Wilfrid Latham, Manuel Perez del Cerro and Carlos Sivori.

The Club House, if we recollect aright, was built by Sr. J. N. Fernandez, then the richest estanciero in the country; and our old friend Doctor Don Diego de Alvear, son of General de Alvear, and one of the most polished men in Buenos Aires, was the first President of the Club, and the following is a list of the gentlemen who filled the post of President up to the present day :—

Dr. Diego de Alvear, Santiago Calzadilla, M. J. de Guerrico, José M. Bustillos, Miguel Azcuenaga, Bernabé Ocampo, Dr. Eduardo Costa, Juan P. Esnaola, Dr. Albarrellos, Dr. Adolfo Alsina, Emilio Castro, José A. Acosta, Carlos Urioste, Enrique Sundblad, Juan Carlos Gomez, Dr. Luis Saenz Peña, Dr. Manuel Quintana, Eduardo Madero, Emilio Duportal, Eustaquio Diaz Velez, Dr. Carlos Pellegrini, Ricardo Lavalle, Rafael A. Cobo, Dr. Delfin Gallo. Torcuato de Alvear, Dr. Julio Rosa, Dr. Diego Gonzalez. J. J. Molina and Dr. Roque Saenz Peña.

Don Carlos Urioste was re-elected seven times President, Mr. Cobo six times, Don Juan Carlos Gomez five times, and Sr. Azcuenaga and Dr. Quintana four times.

In the year 1854, the club had 265 members and in 1892 1,200; at present it counts 1,400 of whom 500 are new members within the last two months. The capital of the club is marked at $150,000 m/n and the furniture at $300,000 m/n. We have not time now to trace all the vicissitudes of the club. In the year 1889 it was so flourishing that the board determined to build a magnificent club house, and five millions of francs were voted, and a building committee named composed off Don Rafael A. Cobo, C. M. Holmberg, Mariano de Maria, Emilio Duportal, C. Gonzalez Segura and William Moores. Plans were called for, and a gentleman was sent to Europe to study the finest club houses in the world. A site for the new club was bought, but the crisis came on in 1890, the club went down, property fell away, and they had to sell the site at a loss of four hundred thousand dollars.

The fortunes of the club are, however, now on the mend. The last mask ball was the most brilliant the club ever had; there were present seven hundred and thirty ladies masked, whose cards were held by the board, and also eight hundred and seventeen members.

The saloons, lining-room, reading-room, billiards and so forth have all undergone great improvement; we well remember the time, whenever any distinguished foreigner came to Buenos Aires, he was always invited by some member of the club to dine there, and many and many ywere the pleasant dinner parties which we assisted at in the days of Eduardo Madero, Roque Perez and the Estradas. But all those convivial times seem to have passed away. Representative English bankers and merchants and capitalists still arrive, but we never hear of their dining at the Progreso, nor do we ourself by any chance get an invitation. Let us hope under the new administration that the grand hospitalities of former years will be revived. The following is the list of the gentlemen who compose the new board :—

President—Dr. Roque Saenz Peña.
Vice-President—Francisco P. Bollini.
Secretary—Carlos M. Holmberg.
Treasurer— Dr. Benigno A. Jardin.
Directors—Cesar Gonzalez Segura, Carlos Calvo y Capdevila, Adolfo F. Villate.
Librarian—Dr. Juan A. Garcia.

LONDON LETTER.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

I.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

February 13th.

The 11th was a glorious day. Summer. The union jack fluttered gaily from the Victoria tower. The decorative gilding of the gorgeous home of the British parliament glistened once more in the sunlight. It was like waking from a dream. The darkness of a London winter had past with the political events which one remembered as nightmares. Those who visit us in the depth of winter's gloom would scarcely credit the transformation of this vast but uninviting city with the first burst of spring. Those who live here are not conscious of the climatic resemblance of their country to the Arctic regions. In winter we cannot see London. We cannot see one another, or the golden cross on St. Paul's, or and—for this at least let the Lord be praised—the statue of Nelson in Trafalgar Square. You who live under perpetual blue skies, and in a land of perennial flowers, know nothing of our enjoyment at the sight of the first crocus—the first genuine bud on the lilac bush. You know nothing of our economies in tailor's bills for four months in the year, and how we nurse our thin Parisian umbrellas, patent leather boots and top hats till the light cometh. It was like a new world the day that parliament opened. Even Westminster Abbey appeared transformed in the sunlight. Its beauties were opened to view by the recent pulling down of the building near the chapter house on the south. "My lords," said a respectful constable, "there is a clear passage to the House if you wish to go in. Like a true British "Eliza" I had to remain in my proper place outside, watching the string of superb equipages setting down their noble inmates at the peers' entrance. Indeed I was much impressed with the advisability of not going in, from the observation of a lady—not very well dressed—who stood near me. "Why," said she, "them's all mucky women." It is true there seemed to be more peeresses than peers, and the fact suggested deep thoughts as to the ruling conditions of modern society, and as to the sham buccaneering of our darling boys in South Africa, a buccaneering which Lord Rosebery, with a sly hint at the Cecils, described as "too Elizabethan." Mr. Labouchere intends to move for a list of subscribers to the Chartered Company since its inception, and for all the circumstances relating to its promotion. Poor speculating duchesses! they have nursed in their bosoms a snake—an outsider—who may wound them mortally. It is difficult to see how their protegé, Mr. Chamberlain, with the chorus of praises from all parts of the world ringing in his ears, can go back from the promise his energetic action in the Transvaal has excited amongst his former supporters in the Radical ranks. Tremendous efforts will be made by the capitalists or by what Mr. Morley has referred to in his electioneering address as the ruling party of privilege and vested interests, to thwart Mr. Labouchere's intent, as well as Mr. Chamberlain's apparent policy. At the head of this party is the Marquis of Salisbury, with the Balfour-Cecil family circle, and a host of influential people who dread the exposure of what the Times itself in an unguarded moment referred to as an English Panama question. The St. James's Gazette, when Mr. Cecil Rhodes came home to "face the music," and had an interview with Mr. Chamberlain, and the interview was reported to be satisfactory, rejoiced at what it called the disappointment of the scandal-mongers. But since then Mr. Cecil Rhodes has run away from the music, with the intention, it is said, of meeting Jameson at Alexandria. This intention, we hear, has been foiled by Mr. Chamberlain, who has ordered the transport Victoria, in which are Mr. Jameson and his officers, to come direct from Port Said to Southampton. Still at this moment we know little or nothing of what is going on. The rumours just mentioned have all been contradicted by Mr. Rhodes's friends at the offices of the Chartered Company. When Mr. Dalziel to-day questioned Mr. Chamberlain in the House of Commons as to the rumour that a police officer had left England to arrest Dr. Jameson at Alexandria, the Secretary of State for the Colonies referred the inquisitive member to the Treasury. The First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. Balfour, passed him on to the law officers of the Crown. The Solicitor General, amidst the laughter of the House, in answering Mr. Dalziel's question literally, told him that in all such cases the prosecutor was the Crown. As Mr. Dalziel did not see the advisability of catechising the Crown, he subsided. There is another difficulty. Mr. Ralston, an Edinburgh barrister, has discovered that Dr. Jameson, as a true born Scot, and no connection of the Dublin whiskey people, and of Stanley's rear-guard Jameson, should not be tried in England, but in the capital of the Scottish nation. Still it would be awkward if a Scottish jury found the case against Dr Jameson not proven, while in England Sir John Willoughby and the other officers in Jameson's troop were condemned. Home Rule is decidedly out of date. All modernity tends towards one law, one flag and one large nation, as far as is practicable racially and geographically. Mr. Dillon, the two Redmonds and other Irish members have already taken good care to remind the present Government and the House of Commons that Home Rule for Ireland is very much alive, although Lord Salisbury thinks it is as dead as Lazarus, and even Mr. Gerard Balfour, the Irish Secretary, says that if not dead it sleepeth. When he said further that the attitude of the Government towards Home Rule was one of unrelenting hostility, he voiced the wooden-headed Bourbonism of the Salisbury family circle, and afforded some excuse to the Irish members, who seemed disappointed that at the opening of Parliament the enemies of England were more placid than they had been. The attitude of the Irish in this respect, though natural, and execrable on account of its naturalness, is not politic. They were more nobly employed in healing their own dissensions. Even here, they have not quite succeeded. In spite of the assurances of Mr. Healy that he will loyally support Mr. Sexton's leadership of the party, this gentleman at present declines to accept that honour. Should he persist in his refusal, the choice seems to lie between Esmonde, Dillon and Arthur O'Connor. None of these is strong enough for the place, though otherwise unimpeachable. In regard to the opening debate in the House of Lords Lord Rosebery could not have had a better case than Lord Salisbury's blunders in foreign policy afforded him. But the Liberal chief made little of his opportunities. His vein of satire is too light. On the Armenian question he gave himself away. Lord Salisbury had no difficulty in exposing the absurdity of Great Britain endeavouring to occupy Asia Minor in face, as he said, of 300,000 Turkish troops and the ill-concealed hostility of other powers. Once again he explained to Lord Rosebery that neither by the letter of the treaty of Berlin, nor of the Cyprus convention, were we bound to interfere by force for the protection of the Christian subjects of the Sultan. By the Berlin treaty we were bonnd with other powers to urge the Sultan to grant reforms, and by the Cyprus Convention we stupidly bound ourselves to defend the Turkish Empire against Russian invasion if the Sultan protected the Christians and granted reforms. He has done neither, and thus we get rid of the terrible responsibility imposed upon us by Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury, who brought us in 1878 what a Conservative newspaper, by a ridiculous misprint, has just called "Peace with Horror." Even the Daily Chronicle, and its fellow fanatics begin to see their mistaken views of the Armenian difficulty. But in April, a few weeks hence in spite of Lord Salisbury's own exposure of the Cyprus Convention, Palace Gardens, where the statue of Lord Beaconsfield stands, will again be yellow with the primrose offerings of silly worshippers.

THE TROUBLE IN THE TRANSVAAL.

THE FIGHT AND AFTERWARDS.

The Transvaal papers are full of details of the series of engagements between Jameson's men and the Boers leading up to the surrender at Doornkop, and all of them bear testimony to the bravery of the mistaken men. It appears that despite all his South African experience, Dr. Jameson was outmanœuvred as well as out-numbered. But for his artillery he would have been practically at the mercy of the Boers, who, having decoyed him astray, showed all their well-known activity for taking advantage of cover and crippling the advancing foe by their sharpshooting. After the surrender the ground was strewn with dead horses, it being part of the Boer tactics to first shoot the horses of their enemies so as to make them incapable of attacking. The Boers behaved with great humanity to the wounded, and as a rule refrained from undue glorification in their own prowess. As evening came on, the poor fellows who had fallen were buried—with their clothing on—top boots and their dust-begrimed coats and riding breeches—side by side, and says the correspondent of the Press (Pretoria), the scene was a very affecting one, many a silent prayer being offered up, and many an eye wet with tears. This correspondent avers that some of the troopers informed him that Dr. Jameson told them that 2,000 men from the Rand would meet them. The Johannesburg Standard says that a gentleman who was at the fight asserts that the doctor's disgust at finding there was no succour forthcoming was almost too deep for words. What he did say was very uncomplimentary to his friends in the Golden City. Apropos of this, it is interesting to note that at a mass meeting held at Salisbury both Jameson's men and the Boers were cheered, while hoots and groans were given for the Johannesburgers. A resolution of sympathy with Dr. Jameson renamed the city "Judasburg."

AN UNFOUNDED STORY.

A representative of the Johannesburg Star contradicts the story that a young Boer named Jacoby was shot by a B.S.A. trooper to whom he was giving water, but the real facts form a dreadful illustration of the horrors of this fratricidal contest. It seems that Jacoby ran short of ammunition, and said he would see if two fallen troopers had any. Before he got half way to one of them he discovered that he was still alive and able to raise his rifle. He therefore ran away, but had not gone far when he cried, "O God, ik is gekwetst' (Oh God, I am wounded,) and fell with a bullet through his body.

THE VALIANT JOHANNESBURGERS.

There seems to have been an immense amount of drilling, parading, etc., of the irregular forces hastily raised by the Reform Committee in Johannesburg. Even after the defeat of Jameson there were much church parades, musters, and so on, while the streets were full of orderly crowds, and although the Government wisely closed the canteens, bars and bottle stores, the theatres and music-halls had good audiences. It is an interesting commentary of what has been said about the danger to women in Johannesburg that at nightfall ladies were out till a late hour seeing what was to be seen in the company of "ample male attendants."

THE SURRENDER.

After the delivery of the Boer ultimatum to the Reform Committee there was a great deal of excitement in the city. Sir Jacobus de Wet, the British Agent, addressed the people from the balcony of the Algis-buildings, near the Rand Club, urging them to lay down their arms. Sir Sidney Sheppard followed in the same strain, and in the meantime the Reform Committee had issued a notice calling on all who had taken up arms to hand them in to the central offices, those of the Consolidated Goldfields Company. Despatch riders and cyclists were sent to the outlying posts of defence to recall the men posted on the heights. "Within an hour the streets rang with the tramp of the armed men and the rattle of horses' hoofs as the 'defenders' of Johannesburg marched in to deliver up their arms," says the Press. In the Government square the "Scots Brigade" were addressed by Sir Drummond Dunbar, and in fact the whole revolution fizzled out like a damp squib. When night fell Johannesburg was itself again, and members of Bettington's Horse and the Scots Brigade assisted the civilian police to maintain order. An eye-witness writes :—"At night the theatres were open, people had recovered their wonted gaiety, the cares and anxieties of the morning gave place to the joys and pleasures of the evening, and once more the stars shone down on Johannesburg under piping times of peace." This may be a somewhat exaggerated statement, but certain it is that the Johannesburgers displayed a wonderful capacity for shelving the Reform Committee and returning to their ordinary avocations.

DR. JIM'S DEFENCE.

The probable defence of Dr. Jim is one of the principal things I have devoted myself to discussing with some of the prominent people on board, and I have been able to gather in a series of interviews among the South African passengers that Kruger is not the saint some of our good London contemporaries would have us believe.

Kruger, according to a prominent member of the Johannesburg Reform Committee on board the Moor, stands not in the position of the watchful policeman who prevents the commission of a crime, or takes the offender redhanded, but is revealed in the despicable light of the over-eager detective who persuades his victim into the guilt he wishes to convict him of.

The gentleman who has informed me of the Reform Committee's side of the question says the only thing he regrets is that Jameson was inveigled into making his advance about ten days too soon.

"Could Jameson have waited a little longer," says the informant, "we would have had arms and ammunition for 10,000 men, as many as necessary anyway, and there would have been no difficulty in securing our rights. Neither I nor any of my fellow-members on the committee could tell anything about how the men in Transvaal would respond to the confidence we placed in them. I had the names of 480 men in a book, and must say that volunteers and offers of service poured in beyond our expectations.

"We were receiving arms and ammunition at Johannesburg for some time. We had 2,500 rifles and three Maxim guns and ammunition.

"Why didn't we go to Jameson's aid? We couldn't tell there was a battle on, for one thing. No, it was not possible to hear the firing from Krugersdorp, which is two hours from Johannesburg.

"Then it must be remembered that Kruger, who had, as I firmly believe, forged despatches to Jameson, so arranged it, by means of the armistice forced upon us and his promises to keep us locked in Johannesburg while he cornered Dr. Jameson. When we heard that Jameson had crossed the border after the armistice was arranged, we believed implicitly that Dr. Jim would be allowed to get to Johannesburg without being fired upon, and we were never at any time sure he was on his march. On one rumor that Dr. Jim had advanced 150 of Bettington's horse were sent out to meet him, but the body was called back after it had gone two miles, as it was not considered wise to leave Johannesburg defenceless. It was believed the Boers were going to shell the town."

But why wsre the Reform Committee never very sure of the truth of the rumour that Dr. Jim was on his way? And just when I was pondering over this curious statement, Captain Frank Thatcher, volunteer, aide-de-camp to Sir John Willoughby, came to help me to solve the puzzle.

He told me that treachery on the part of the South African Republic in inviting the attack by means of a forged despatch will be Dr. "Jim's" defence.

Kruger's efforts as a forger of despatches were not confined to the bogus message borne by a horseman which induced Jameson to cross the Transvaal frontier, but continued while the campaign was in progress, for messengers on bicycles brought Boer directions to Dr. Jim in the disguise of Reform Committee despatches.

Captain Thatcher admitted to me it was he who had cut the telegraph wires on the borders of the Transvaal when Dr. Jameson began his advance, and this seemed to me so important a statement, particularly in view of the charges made that Dr. Jameson had cut them himself to prevent telegraphic orders from the authorities reaching him, that I questioned the aide-de-camp specially on this subject.

Captain Thatcher not only said again that it was he who cut the wires, but told me that he had suggested doing it in the first place, and that his object was not to prevent the receipt of messages by Jameson and his men, but the desire to prevent communication by the Boers on the border with Pretoria, and the consequent massing of the South African Republic's forces.

Captain Thatcher says he cut three ten yard long pieces of wire out from the lines, rolled them into one coil, and tossed them into the Malmani River; he also chopped down two telegraph poles. I was also informed that Captain Thatcher, who is an expert in guerilla warfare, offered the Reform Committee, as soon as he arrived in Johannesburg, to take 500 men and defend the town against the 5,000 Boers massed around it.—Exchange.

CAMPANA.

A concert was held on Saturday last in the Lecture Room of the Mechanics' Institute, for the benefit of the Athletic Club, when the room was well filled. A rather lengthy programme had been arranged, which was not concluded till well on for midnight, the items being as follow :—Overture by the band. Mr. Griffiths sang "The Midshipmate" and "Then you'll remember me", which were well received. Sig. Mollo gave "Gildá di Rigoletto" and a selection from "Fra Diavolo", with exceedingly good, taste and was deservedly applauded. Mr G. Morton gave a good rendering of "For Thee", and followed with "M'appari tuttá amor, Marta". Mons. Dufour sang "Je me rapapillote", for which he was loudly applauded, and responded with "La Noce á Thomas". A pianotorte solo was given by Mr. F. Artus with considerable taste, followed shortly after by Messrs. Hanley, Jevers and Hunter giving "The Park Crescent March" as a banjo trio. Mr. E. F. Jevers as a Coster gave "Never introduce your donah to a pal", and "If it wasn't for the houses in between", and responded to an encore with "My Old Dutch". Mr. J. Bull was very successful in his song "I'm not", and his song "Village Bells" was well received. Mr. Mallett followed with "In the Morning"; and the concert concluded with an amusing farce played by Messrs. R. Baillie Jevers, Artus and Hanley.

The evening was a success in every way, and will add considerably to the funds of the Athletic Club.

The difficulty pointed out yesterday arising from the practical impossibility of assembling all the members of the Board of the Mortgage Bank, will it is clearly seen prevent the carrying out of the Moratorium law, and may consequently lead to a disastrous liquidation of the Bank.

THEATRES.

Frank Brown is doing tremendous business at the San Martin. The excellence of the Company has been recognized from the start, and the theatre is crowded nightly, and from the demand for seats for to-night, the first "Noche de Moda," it promises to be another splendid audience. One thing must not be overlooked and that is the excellence of the orchestra, which is far and away above the average of what is usually met with at a circus, and adds very considerably to the enjoyment. Wonderful novelties are promised very shortly, and such is the strength of the Company that the programme can be varied very frequently.

"El Principe Heredero" at the Comedia is well worth all that has been said of it. It is, without exception, the best zarzuela that has been seen here, and will undoubtedly fill the theatre for some time to come. It is very comical all through, and with such artists as Ruiz, Tapias and Sra. Garcia the fun is well brought out. The music is very pretty and Sras. Golobardas and Alcalde and Sres. Renach and Tapias make the most of it. The mounting and dresses are in good taste, and all round it is thoroughly well worth seeing. The performance commenced last night with "El Duo de la Africana," remarkably well done by Sra. Garcia and Sres. Renach and Tapias. Both pieces will be repeated to-night.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The weather was the only thing well up to the mark yesterday. Everything else appeared to be weak-kneed. Gold Eagle included. Affairs in Italy are calmer, but Negus Menelik is sneaking along towards Adigrat in his usual cat-like way, and if he licks Baldissera as he did our unfortunate countryman Barry Tiernan (Baratieri) there will be another awful howl in Italy that will shake Europe. Weyler is still "whaling" the Cubans, according to his own account. Our old friend the Mahdi is preparing to attack Egypt, so stirring news from Cheops may be expected soon.

The unfortunate Ensenada for a second time within a few weeks has been visited by the fire-fiend. Between 7 and 10 last night the flames destroyed the entire range of buildings at the railway station of Rio Santiago. We refer our readers to our telegraphic column for further particulars.

We want to see our friend Mr. Horace Wheeler, of port celebrity, at once, as we have private information from Asuncion that the plans for a port there which he laid before the Government some years ago are about to be made use of as originals from another quarter. See to it at once, Mr. Wheeler.

That clever detective Commissary Otamendi pounced yesterday morning on the three "sugetos" who recently made a swoop on $70,000 in cash, jewels, Bonds etc. from Mr. Pichetto of Calle Tucuman. Scotland Yard has no better detective than Otamendi.

After three years' furious litigation, on which several lawyers and escribanos have grown enormously stout in paunch and purse, Judge Centeno has just divorced Mr. and Mrs. S. They began to fight when two months married, and were soon well known to the police. The couple not only fought in their house, but in the public streets, whenever they got a chance, in their friends' houses, in fact everywhere. The lady had $300,000 when she married, but half of it has gone in the lawsuit. The whole ruction is explained by the ages of the loving couple, the lady being 60 and the gentleman 26. Winter and Summer with a vengeance.

There will be a racket in the shape of a big civic procession in a few days, as a mark of sympathy for Italy in her misfortunes. Those who want to figure in it have only to make tracks for No. 1368 Cangallo and leave there names there.

A Finance Minister in the hard-ups is rather a "rara avis in terra," yet we see Mr. Vidiella, Uruguay's financial medicine man, in the Montevideo papers, explaining why he is not as rich as he was; but we are glad to see that the minister hopes to pull through all right in the course of a few years.

It is announced from Cordoba that Governor Alcorta has gone to spend a week with General Roca at the latter's splendid estancia at La Paz, after which H. E. will make a tour through the province.

Engineer Luiggi intends to patriotically use Argentine stone in building the military port at Bahia Blanca. He has seen the Tandil stuff, but thinks he may be able to get as good or better from the Sierra de la Ventana, near B.B. and is going there in a day or two to have a look round.

Mr. Higgins, Travelling Commissioner of the Salvation Army, is expected here shortly on behalf of General Booth, and will arrive by the next Pacific steamer, the Liguria, due at Montevideo on the 21st. He has, we regret to say, the prospect of quarantine experience on Flores Island. Commissioner Higgins is one of the oldest officers in the S.A., holds one of its highest posts, and has had great experience of its work in all parts of the world. He will remain here for five or six weeks, and we hope will enjoy the River Plate autumn, the most glorious season in any part of the earth.

A dog that chews tobacco, and likes it, is owned by a Philadelphia butcher. It has been chewing for about three years, since it was a puppy, and is now so addicted to the habit that it can't get along without a daily dose of the weed. Its owner started it in the habit by giving it chunks of tobacco when it was a puppy, and the animal at once took to it. It will chew only plug tobacco, and will not touch fine cut. It holds the tobacco between its forepaws and sucks all the juice out of it. The animal is really more of a good example than a lamentable instance of depravity, for it does not spit on the floor or anywhere else.

The sad suicide of Mr. Faustino Garcia, has cast a gloom over a wide circle. The unfortunate gentleman attached stones to his body with a chain and threw himself into the Riachuelo. The corpse was interred by the police, but was exhumed yesterday and fully identified by the sorrowing family, with whom we sincerely condole.

The torpedo boat Putria arrived last night from the squadron at Bahia Blanca. She is going to the Cibils Dock at Montevideo to have her hull cleaned.

The Government has approved the surveys and plans presented by the Rosario line for its new track to Retiro.

The Public Works Department recommends the Government to cancel General Mansilla's Round about railway concession, as the time for sending in plans has matured without any having been submitted.

On the Ensenada line yesterday alongside the Paseo Colon, between Indedencia and Estados Unidos, an unfortunate workman was caught and carried by the cowcatcher a long distance, eventually however he slipped off and the wheels of the engine fearfully destroyed both legs. Taken to the Italian Hospital, he died a few miuutes after admittance.

The police in a sudden fit of conscientiousness, yesterday arrested six men who were playing the "taba" inside a shed of dock No. 2.

No "novedad" in the yellow fever line yesterday, due, no doubt, to the bracing fall in the temperature. Yellow Jack likes close, stuffy, sticky, damp weather, but sneaks away from a health-giving "pampero."

The Minister of War has sent Mr. Miles Pasman, President of the Curumalan Company, a nice note of thanks for having given the ground of the Company for the National Guard manœuvres.

The Consular service is moving. Mr. E. Torre has been named Argentine Consul in Alexandria, Mr. A. Parazzoli Vice-Consul in the Eternal City, and Mr. Frank Robles Consul in Guayaquil. There will be a chance for the latter of retiring on a fortune by getting the mob there to half-kill him by giving him a good hiding.

The parish priest of Las Conchas is a lucky man. He has got $1,000 out of the Government for repairs to be done on the church there.

The usual rumours were afloat yesterday about the Chilian question. The Union of Valparaiso published a splendid article on the subject on Wednesday, calling for full publication of the negotiations, and an end to all the hole-and-corner work that has been going on. All honest people on both sides of the Andes will heartily say Hear! Hear! to this.

What's the meaning of a telegram from Chile saying that England intends to establish "a naval station" at Talcahuano? Has Chile ceded that port to John Bull?

Dr. Carl Wenzel, head-physician of the German Hospital, has gone for a well earned vacation trip expected to last a fortnight; and Dr. Kólliker has kindly undertaken to tend his patients till his return. We wish the worthy doctor a pleasant holiday.

There can no longer be any doubt as to the cruiser Varese, belonging to Argentina. To-morrow or next day the War Minister will issue the list of her commander and officers. The report about this cruiser having been refused by the Chilians as worthless led to a conference yesterday between the Minister of War and Signor Orlando, the bnilder of the ship. It is said that the latter explained everything, and the contract will be signed to-morrow. The Tiempo received a telegram from Rome last night stating that all reports about the Varese and Count Antonelli are "intrigues" of an Italian (in Chile's pay probably) who was in Buenos Aires a year ago and is interested in attacking Count Antonelli and preventing the sale of warships to Argentina by Orlando and Co. He carries on correspondence with both Argentine and Chilian personages and appears to be rather a shady and dangerous individual. When he left here he said he was going to Italy, but really sneaked round to Chile and remained a month there.

We have to offer Miss Maggie Alice Mullett of Flores a sincere apology for the announcement of her death which appeared in our weekly issue on Monday last, an announcement which was sent to us by post, with payment enclosed, by some anonymous person who ought to be thoroughly ashamed of himself. Newspapers are at the mercy of such evil-minded people, as it is impossible to verify the source of every announcement sent, though we take every precaution to prevent surprise. We had the great pleasure of seing Miss Mullett yesterday, looking as healthy and beautiful as usual, and most unlikely to figure in an obituary notice for many long years to come.

Carcaraña, famous for its cheese, is now to the fore with honey, and the very choicest of honey too. The Creamery people have been experimenting in this line for a number of years, and they find that the best honey is got from keeping the bees on alfalfa, the production now being so large that they can supply 5 to 10 thousand lbs. The hives, of which they have 200 in use, are American, imported, and each has 57 sections, the latter all running to a lb. As to the article itself we enrolled a grand jury to sit on it, the verdict being—delicious without circumstances. The Buena Medida has it on sale, so that our readers can sit on it or eat it themselves, according to their good will and pleasure.

The recent excitement in the New York Chamber of Commerce and among the Wall Street speculators over the Venezuela scare recalls a Lincoln story. During the period of national unrest a committee of New York millionaires waited on "Old Abe" to beg of him to send a gunboat to protect their city, taking care to convince him that they represented 200,000,000 dollars. The care-worn President listened patiently to all they had to say, and then remarked with great gravity:—"Gentlemen, I am, as you say, legally the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, though as a matter of fact I do not know where a single regiment or gunboat is located; but, gentlemen, if I were one-half as wealthy as you say you are, and a tenth part as badly scared as I know you are, I would buy a gun-boat and defend New York."

Since "Dr. Syntax" broke the Bank at Mar del Plata lots of good people have sneaked down there on the pretence of poor health, to have a shy for some "unearned increment," but they have all come back wiser and poorer men. One of them all but ruined himself by backing black, which he was induced to do by the following paragraph from an English paper, which he handed to us yesterday with a wistful look in his tear-dimmed eyes that was very touching: "Phenomenal Run at Monte Carlo.—The weather at Monte Carlo continues fine. There was a phenomenal run at one of the "trente-et-quarante" tables, the black coming out 21 times in succession. One player won 115,000f. on it. Supposing any one had commenced on it with a stake of one louis, leaving his winnings on each time, he would have arrived at the maximum 12,000f. on the tenth coup, with a surplus of 8480f. After this he would only be allowed to leave on 12,000f. each time; on the twenty-first coup, when the deal ended, he would have won 140,480f.. or in English money £5619 5s."

Letters from London report that the venerable Argentine Minister there, Mr. Luis Dominguez, has quite recovered from his recent illness. Dr. Victorino de la Plaza returned to London last month from a round of visits at country houses. He finds London such a pleasant place that he has indefinitely postponed his return to his native land.

"I do not like to see Tennyson maligned (says a writer in Sketch). Somebody has been mistelling the anecdote of the sandwiches. Tennyson is reported to have said to a footman at a garden party, who carried round sandwiches, "I Dont like those dry things;', whereupon a lady sitting next to him remarked. "That's very rude." Now, the authentic tale is that Tennyson said to the hostess, "Do you usually make your sandwiches of old boots ?" She received this, not as rudeness, but as a stroke of Parnassian genius. The Laureate might deck his post with a similar flower of graceful badinage.

Here are two letters we have received on the cubic yard question.

"Dear Standard

"In re as to your question to-day, "If a cubic yard weighs a ton," a half a cubic yard should weigh half a ton. No other answer is possible, except from a mutton head.

"But, if a cubic yard weighs a ton, a cubic half yard will weigh one eighth of a ton. I think that any one ought to see that it takes eight cubic half yards to make a cubic yard.

Rusty Cuss.

Dear Standard.

Your Naval Editor is wrong.

The terms ton, cubic yard. square yard, etc., must be taken as a whole, and if a workman is ordered to bring the half of a whole, he will bring the half and not ¼.

When a mason is ordered to mix half a meter sand with another article, he certainly will take half a cubic meter and not one-eighth.

The term is incorrect but conventional, and must be accepted.

There is no such thing as a half a cubic yard.

There is a cubic inch, a cubic foot, a cubic yard, etc. If in workman's parlance a man is told to bring a cubic yard and a half, by the half is understood the half of the bulk or weight of the whole cubic yard. and not the cube of half a yard. If a cubic yard weighs a ton, a cube of half a yard (i.e. an 18-inch cube) will weight one-eighth of a ton.

If, as your N. E. claims, that half a cubic yard weighs ¼ of a ton, how much does he figure a cubic yard and a half to weigh? 1125 kilos, I suppose.

Yours,

Rats.

The "bike" was very near causing a vacancy on the Treasury bench at home last month. Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, is one of the most furious bikers in England, yet he lost his nerve, or got jammed in the traffic; and he and his cycle were carried home to Downing-street in a safety hansom. Of course, if Mr. Balfour will insist on racing through the City, and wending his audacious way through the purlieus of Whitechapel—which is where the smash took place—he must take the consequences.

The horseless carriage is making headway at home, and breeders of draught horses are almost as nervous as their grandfathers were when railways were started and it was thought that the horse's occupation was like Othello's, gone. A Motor Car Club has been formed as a limited liability company, to be managed by honorary officials only, and to consist of shareholders and members who do not look for dividends, the sole object of the Club being to further the interests of the whole motor-carriage movement, to secure the removal of legal impediments, and to encourage exhibitions. The first International Motor-Carriage Exhibition will be held at the Imperial Institute in May and last throughout the summer. This Exhibition (which has received the approval of the Prince of Wales, President of the Institute) will comprise motor cycles and carriages, as well as motors and motor-plant. Previous to this Exhibition, and probably during this month, one or two receptions will be given at the Imperial Institute to the members of the House of Lords and Commons by the Motor Car Club, with a view to securing their sympathy with the movement for the repeal of the restrictive Act.

The European papers to hand are full of the explosion of the aerolite near Madrid. All the buildings in the city were shaken, and many windows were smashed by the concussion. The Madrid Observatory states that the explosion occurred at a height of 20¼ miles above the earth's surface. The sky was clear and the sun was shining brightly at the time of the explosion, all that was visible in the heavens being a white cloud bordered with red, which was travelling eastward at a great rate, leaving behind it a train of fine light dust. The panic was general throughout the city, but especially in the markets. Many persons fainted, and the superstitious populace believed the occurrence was significant of the Divine wrath. In nearly all the schools and colleges the pupils threw down their books and made for the doors; and in the frantic struggles to escape, many were seriously bruised. Several small pieces of greyish stone, still warm, were picked up in Madrid. Owing to the time that elapsed between the observation of the explosion and the report the aerolite must have burst at a great distance. The Royal Observatory states that the aerolite that exploded over Madrid was of large size, and a fragment of a planet which was travelling with immense velocity at a distance of about 34 kilometres from the earth in a direction north to east. A gentleman walking at Castellana was reading a copy of the Imparcial when a fragment of the aerolite pierced the paper, charring the portion it touched.

Signor Orlando, the great Italian shipbuilder, who is now on a visit here, is justly indignant at the lying telegrams from Chile about the cruiser Varese having been offered to and refused by Chile, as being a worthless vessel. He says she is even superior to the Garibaldi, and as fine a vessel of her class as his well-known firm has ever turned out. Of course it is all sour grapes and vexation of spirit with our Chilian friends, just like the virulent and senseless attack on Count Antonelli, because he does not approve of the devious ways of Chilian diplomacy. Who could?

Wheat, Fundings and Morgans are all reported flabby and pumped out in London No wondor that they are out of breath, at least the latter two, after their recent burst upwards in a "carrera de resistencia." It is now time for the Gold Eagle on this side to have an innings.

Jonathan's Humour. This is how a United States paper satirises the new Poet-Laureate. John Austin, arraigned in Justice Kersten's court on a charge of drunkenness, told this sad story:—"My name is Austin, and I was born in England. Yesterday I was reading a newspaper when I came upon some lines written by one of my family, an Austin, who is now Laureate of England. I read it through, and sought relief from my agony in drink. This is where I ended up. I don't care now where I go." The Justice—"Did you read it all through?" "Yes, your honour." "Discharged. This man has had punishment enough."

Gold Premium.

FIRST RING 208.50%
SECOND RING..... 208.00%

After yesterday's panicky and exaggerated rise in the gold premium, a sharp decline was expected to ensue this morning; all the more so as all the absurd rumors about the spread of yellow fever and the warlike bluster on the West Coast were flatly denied and confidence restored. The market fell at the first ring, but not to the extent expected, which goes to show that there is something more tangible than mere rumors at the bottom of the rise in gold. At a loss to account for the sudden revulsion that has taken place in the gold market, many have jumped at the conclusion that a heavy bullish syndicate has been formed to put up the premium. We very much doubt the existence of this syndicate, and give the rumor for what it is worth. What is more probable is, that the market at large is getting a conviction that, after a heavy fall of thirty and more points, gold may be considered cheap at 200% premium.

The yellow fever scare has died out as fast as it cropped up. To-day's news was most satisfactory, no fresh cases in Belgrano for the last 24 hours. Most reassuring news was also spread with regard to the Chilian Question, which may be considered settled: this has been so often announced that the market laughs and jeers at the statement, convinced as it is that affairs in that quarter are rapidly approaching a climax. But West Coast news does not much affect the gold market at present. What is of far more importance is the movement of exchange, which is very closely watched, as there is a suspicion that the Treasury is in the arena taking exchange and buying gold. Only small amounts of exchange were passed to-day, but the market has not yet got over the fit of weakness. Business was done at

5.08 frcs on France.
5.09 frcs on Belgium.
4.12 mks on Germany.

The gold speculation was active this morning and the premium ruled steady between 207½ and 208½ %. Business for cash embraced four hundred thousand dollars: the premium openod at 208½ %, fell to 207 %, rose to 209½ %, and closed flat at 208½ %. Three hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 210, rose to 212% and closed at 211%. An equal amount was sold for the 14th inst. at cash rates. Eight thousand dollars were sold for the end of April: the premium opened at 214%, fell to 213%, rose to 216%, and closed at 215%. About one million dollars gold changed hands at the first ring.

National Cedulas F were in demand and closed hard at 83. La Plata Cedulas fell to 18. A few shares of the Banco de Italia y Rio de la Plata were sold at 72 (gold) and of the Argentine paper factory at 98. The news from London to-day was satisfactory, Argentine Funding Bonds have risen again and are now quoted about 83.

Paper money was in sharp demand. Paper bills at the banks ruled steady at 8½ to 9%; no demand whatever for gold.

Telegrams from Rio Janeiro announced a rise in exchange; the rate on London stood to-day at 8 15/16d.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

There seems to be more doing up country now. At Concordia they have had two days' rain, which has freshened up things wonderfully and put some spnrt into business, sheepskins at $2 gold and cowhides at $2.90 gold, being all firm and in demand. The Freitas saladero polished off 930 head of cattle yesterday; there is a good deal of stock offering for saladero at $16, but the Orientales have limited their margin to $4.50 gold for fat animals.

Local banks have done so well in the Province of B. Ayres that it is not out of order to suppose that they would do equally well in Santa Fé, though of course the fact of the latter province being so pledged to agriculture, which is always a riskier business than the grazing interest, would entail much greater precaution than is necessary here. In Rosario a move is on foot to start a bank with express purpose of helping the colonists along. The capital would of course be local, and the principal firms of that plaza have all signified their adhesion to the idea. The want of such an institution is amply demonstrated by the migratory movement that a bad year causes in the colonies, where the restriction of credit throws the colonists on the broad of their backs and leaves no recourse but a departure for pastures new. The great thing is to have a practical set of men on the board. None better than the merchants themselves know were and when the shoe pinches, and whether temporary accommodation is likely to be beneficial or not.

In Mendoza the heavy rain put a stop to the getting in of the grapes, but there does not seem to have been any fail. at all events worth speaking of. A vineyard of 22 hectares facing the Trasandine station is reported sold for $220,000 which seems a rattling price. During February the wine exports were 16,228 bordalesas.

A correspondent from Aparicio, F.C.Sud, writes us that it has rained there for two nights and a day and the camps coming on splendidly.

The La Plaia Government is paying more attention to drainage and road repairing than any of its predecessors, but as to the road repairing in particular, it is in such a state of virginal innocence still that the usual course is when a road gets too bad for use another one is run alongside, which may save a lot of trouble, but does not look quite the thing to call "keeping in repair"; altogether there is an army of 63 men employed in looking after provincial thoroughfares. No wonder—is it?—that the roads are not precisely Conder paths. However, it is always a beginning and there is lots of room for improvement. As regards the drainage works the surveys and estimates are all made up, the total cost being $5.641,991 of which the saldo alone accounts for $1.687.780. There is lots to look forward te in this line also—more to look forward to than gaze upon any way.

"Go west, young man" said Horace Greeley and they went, and the west woke up. Go south is the watchword here, and the South is waking; it is doing more, it is coming steadily north, dressing up as it were, falling into line, and when the Strawberry railway is stretched we will be shaking hands with the big valley, the apple country, the triangle, and Nahuel Huapi. Don Bernareo Irigoyen, however, will not wait for the railway. He is about to poblar the fine estancia which he has in Norquin in partnership with Don Juan Gomez, and from his estancias here he is preparing a splendid expedition, as it might well be styled, of fine stock which will leave the rails at La Gama, coast along the Colorado and then "trek" on past Roca to Norquin. The expedition comprises 200 pure-bred Rambouillet blackfaces with corresponding complement of rams, 40 pure-bred Durham cows and 78 pure-bred Durham bulls, mares, horses, etc. This stock is thoroughly wound up for the journey so far as condition goes, and as it will be taken along slowly and accompanied by waggons supplied with forage for the parts of the road devoid of natural sustenance there can be little danger of any untoward circumstance happening on the trip. It is an example that cannot fail to excite emulation.

Our ever welcome colleague La Agricultura put in its usual appearance to-day, well written, well printed and well poste up in everything. It is the bucolic staff of the country so for as literature goes.

There is rather serious news down La Plata way, that is making the inhabitants of Silver City tackle their beef-steaks in a very half-hearted, squeamish style, not to be attributed to any earnestness about Lent but to the official report of carbuncle having been officially detected, and in the Corrales de Abasto. It seems that it has been traced to a dairy or tambo near Abasto station where some cows died off of the disease and caused the death of a party who tried dressing the skins, the worst phase of the business being that the dairy man kept the matter so quiet that although more cows fell sick he called in no vet, nor gave the usual information to the authorities. Then it dropped into the Corrales where the manager also very foolishly tried to keep it secret, a most reprehensible course for which he has been very justly suspended. And the worst feature of all is that although the usual applications were then made to official quarters for the proper instruments to inquire into all traces of disease nothing is as yet forthcoming. It is a very bad business indeed, and the Government should see that the wheels of the department taxed with laxity in looking after it be promptly and energetically greased.

The gold speculation at the second ring was very dull. Seventy thousaad dollars were sold for delivery to-morrow; the premium opened at 207¾, rose to 208.50%, and closed at 208%. Eighty thousand dollars were sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 210½, fell to 209.50%, and closed at 210.50%. The premium for end of April closed at 215%. The turn-over in gold this evening slightly exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. National Cedulas F were steady at 83, La Plata Cedulas rose to 18.70, 30 draught colts at $5 to 160 and colts, horses and sires light and heavy draught, 23 at $35 to 340 each, buyers Messrs Rolando Aguirre, Argerich Cordoba, Smith, Wale, Astorino, Narbais, Parodi and Uncairet.

Mestizo pigs fetched $15 to 20 each, and pure-bred at $30 to 70, the total realizing $72,616.

An important business in live-stock is reported, 25,000 wethers from Don Manuel Cobo's estancias Santa Clara in Balcarce and La Belen (formerly Blandengues) Chascomus at 6.50 per head, buyers Messrs Drabble Bros., broker Mr. Carlos del Campillo.

As regards the marts things were very quiet again to-day, Messrs. G. Gowland and Co. being the only firm busy. They sold the fine Central property Esmeralda 465-75; a family residence up stairs and two large stores underneath, the site measuring 14.72x14.50. Price $70,200, buyer Dr. Manuel Ignacio Moreno.

Messrs. R. Bravo and Co., offered a nice stretch of 8 Cordovese leagues in Cordoba, Department Tulumba, about 15 leagues North West of Monteros Colony, with reserve of $2,500 the league, but this was not reached and the business fell through.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The markets were rather dull to-day: business all round stood still. Wheat, maize and linseed showed a smart change, and do not follow the telegraphic news from the exterior.

The cereal market in Buenos Ayres shows that a certain flatness is noticed in all circles. Wheat, maize and linseed have fallen into a secondary condition and the latter, which should be to the fore to-day, is a matter of no consequence to exporters. Considering the time of the season one would have thought that linseed would have come forward, but it seems that the grain is very mixed, both in quality and quantity, and requires a lot of time for exporters to sort. The principal parcels are already consigned to Europe, and these, as they are picked, leave the dirty and mixed qualities on the market.

The sales in wool circles to-day denote a great falling off; notwithstanding the arrivals the competition has slackened off for the last few days.

Telegrams from London and Antwerp tell us that our wools are quoted at higher rates than formerly, but nevertheless the price in our markets is decidedly unfavourable to estancieros. Everyone thought that with the auctions in London the wool in our markets should have taken a spurt, but we are sorry to say that the fashionable artistas are more inclined to hold back than to buy. Antwerp gives us wool "tipe B" at 4.35 ¼ francs, whereas in Roubaix we notice prices for washed wool rising strongly.

Messrs. Devoto Balbiani and Co. sold at the Central Produce Market 4000 cow-hides from the province of Buenos Aires, at reserved price; 25,000 kilos sheepskins "consumo" at 65 to 72 cents; 29,000 kilos wool from Entre Rios, special at 8.50; 22.000 do medium from 7.60 to 8.20; 500 do inferior from 6.20 to 7.20; 17,000 kilos borrega wool from 5.80 to 7; 5,000 lamb cross from 8.50 to 8.80.

Little or nothing new is noticed in the cereal markets of Rosario. It must be admitted that business has slacked off considerably. Rosario all round presents a dormant condition and is patiently waiting for a reaction. The small lots of wheat bought are all sent to deposit. The demand of shipbrokers is bound to tell, as gold is soaring: exporters will find difficulties in finding old rates. However, as long as the exporters find European prices fixed; they don't complain of paying a few pence more. The local news of Rosario is all comprised in the quotations of foreign markets.

The current prices in Rosario have been for wheat from 7 to 7.20. Some lots were sold at 7.50, exceptional prices which cannot hold out, as the competition here is not strong enough to drive up prices to that rate. Messrs. Sauberan and Co. have sold wheat in Villa Constitucion at 6.80 and 7.20.

A parcel of 3,000 bags of maize and another of 1,800 quintals were sold at 3.15; the principal buyers being from Brazil. Linseed seems to be a heavy drug on the market; farmers want to sell, but find no buyers; the price is too high for exporters. Taking the sales all round, only 6,000 quintals were sold at very low prices. The market rates are rather slack.

Very little movement was noticed in the Montevidean markets. Cereal have collapsed. Wheat is quoted at 2,65 and 2.70. Those high prices are due greatly to the small arrivals, if one takes the current rates of a market it stands to reason that the smaller arrivals the more competition. At the present moment this does not exist; consignatarios are quietly awaiting the turn of affairs. Some pushed millers paid at a late hour 2.80, a nominal price which the market does not conform with. Nothing new in maize, prices not changed. In the Saladero line we hear that Messrs. P. Denis and Co. of Paso de los Toros have sold 1000 kilos of bones at 4.50. The Guaviyu saladero has also sold its bone ash at a reserved price; this strikes the market as peculiar, when one considers that this article is purely for export.

The La Plata saladero Meneghini sold 1,300 salted hides of 31 kilos at 19 gold argentinos. The movement in wool is as usual, the parcels however are too small to create large competition. The only sale reported was one from Nico Perez at 2.45, the wool was not up to the march.
